

It's time to get growing with free primary and secondary school workshops at RHS Garden Harlow Carr

As the light levels increase and new shoots begin to emerge from the ground, this is the perfect time to plan your free school visit to RHS Garden Harlow Carr.

There's lots of exciting and diverse habitats your students can discover that will help bring the curriculum to life, shake off the winter blues and add a spring to their step. For example, there's the wonderful alpine house where plants representing biomes from around the world show off their adaptations. Or there's the woodland where students can get their hands dirty investigating the soil at their feet or have hands on exploration of the trees themselves.

Great workshops for the months ahead are:

Primary

- Signs of the Season
- Woodland Explorers

Secondary

- Planting for the Planet – Soil health
- Inspirational Nature

And this summer term for a limited time only, there's a fantastic new workshop coming to RHS Garden Harlow Carr: Giving primary children the chance to get amazing close up 3-D views of flower pollen and their pollinators. Teachers can bring their Key Stage 1 and Key Stage 2 classes to differentiated sessions which offer role play and stimulating hands-on activities so students can have fun learning how important insects are for plants to reproduce.

As well as our workshops, the Garden and Brammall Learning Centre are available to use for self-guided activities.
