NYES SEND and Inclusion

Secondary SENCo Network

SENCo networks to enable SENCos to be at the forefront of SEND leadership in their school

Outline

This course is intended for SENCos, or staff who may become SENCos in all secondary schools. Academies and independent schools are warmly welcomed.

Each term the latest news and issues related to special educational needs are discussed. Visiting speakers are invited to share what they can offer, or to talk about new research or developments in SEND. There is also a good opportunity for SENCos to talk together and share good practice and issues which they have encountered.

This session will be held face to face so will be particularly practical and will include optional workshops.

Description

Each term the latest local and national news, updates and issues related to special educational needs are discussed, led by the Inclusion Service and supported by School Improvement Service.

An agenda is usually sent out to SENCos who have signed up to be included in the SENCo email list just prior to the meeting. PowerPoints and other materials will be emailed to you prior to the event if it is conducted remotely.

The delegate is advised to have these 'to-hand' for the training sessions.

Outcome

As a result of attending SENCo networks regularly, delegate should:

- Fully understand how to make best provision for pupils with SEND in line with the latest legislation.
- Understand the strategic and operational role of the SENCo and feel empowered to share this information back in school.

- Have access to relevant resources and a wider network of Local Authority and peer practitioner support across the Local Area

Booking Information

Customers will be provided with tea/coffee on arrival and lunch time. Lunch will also be provided.

We recommend that you book your place on this event as soon as possible to ensure a place is available, and so that suitable resources and any special dietary requirements can be provided for you.

We know that if you have booked onto an event you will usually have arranged cover and be looking forward to the day. However, if circumstances change and you find you will be unable to attend a session you are booked onto please cancel via www.nyeducationsservices.co.uk as soon as possible.
