NYES School Improvement & Early Years

PSHE Personal Development Workshop

Find out how PSHE can help your school evidence Personal Development

Outline

Free webinar to support primary schools in reviewing their PSHE provision in line with the changes to Personal Development

Description

This event will provide:

- an update on the current requirements for Personal Development and proposed changes
- clarification of how PSHE helps evidence Personal Development
- an opportunity for schools to hear from guest speakers and ask questions

Guest speakers:

Roary Pownell, PSHE Specialist

Roary Pownall became one of His Majesty's Inspectors of Schools in 2016 and retired at the end of May 2023. As part of the Curriculum Unit, he was Ofsted's subject lead for Personal, Social, Health and Economic Education (PSHE), Relationships, Sex, and Health Education (RSHE) and for Citizenship. He is a passionate advocate for personal development and has especial interest in the development of pupils' character.

Hayley Sherwood, CEO 1decision

Hayley Sherwood has over twelve years of experience in the PSHE field with a long history of supporting primary schools to reach 'Good' and 'Outstanding' for Personal Development. She has successfully produced an award-winning series of books and resources for Early Years and a whole-school primary PSHE programme, which has held the PSHE Association quality-assured kitemark for over a decade.

Outcome

By the end of the session delegates will:

- know about the current requirements for Personal Development
- have considered the contribution of PSHE education to Personal Development
- be more confident in achieving 'Good' or better for Personal Development
