

School Safeguarding Audit 2016-2017

Guidance

Introduction

This guidance has been produced to support schools in ensuring that their safeguarding arrangements are secure. It is for the immediate attention of senior leaders in schools and governing bodies.

Safeguarding – the current context

The inspection of safeguarding remains a key area within the framework for school inspection. The impact of safeguarding arrangements will be evidenced under the judgement on the quality of leadership and management and also its impact on the personal development, behaviour and welfare of children and learners. Inspectors will arrive at a judgement about whether the early years setting or school has effective safeguarding arrangements or not. This judgement will contribute towards the overall judgement on the effectiveness of leadership and management.

Safeguarding incidents continue to put safeguarding firmly in the spotlight in North Yorkshire. Where schools have encountered difficulties, or children's safety has been put at risk, this has often been associated with one or all of the following:

- a lack of clarity amongst stakeholders about safeguarding procedures
- complacency or lack of rigour in implementing safeguarding procedures
- failure to monitor safeguarding procedures
- the failure of senior leaders to establish suitably robust safeguarding procedures

Safeguarding – a definition

This audit adopts the definition used in the Children Act 2004, and in “Working together to safeguard children” (2015). This can be summarised as:

- protecting children from maltreatment
- preventing impairment of children's health or development
- ensuring that children are growing up in circumstances consistent with the provision of safe and effective care
- taking action to enable all children to have the best outcomes

Key legislation and guidance

- HM Government Working Together to Safeguard Children (2015)
- DfE Keeping Children Safe in Education (2016)

HM Government guidance

- What to do if you're worried a child is being abused (2015)
- Information Sharing (2015)

Additional guidance can be found at www.ofsted.gov.uk

“The common inspection framework: education, skills and early years” Ofsted Handbook for inspecting schools in England under section 5 of the Education Act
Inspecting safeguarding in early years, education and skills settings -Guidance for inspectors

This audit sets out the responsibilities placed on schools and colleges to safeguard and promote the welfare of children.

Safeguarding includes the establishment and implementation of procedures to protect children from deliberate harm. A school’s child protection procedures, safer recruitment practices and the maintenance of a robust single central record remain key requirements. However Safeguarding is not just about protecting children from deliberate harm. Safeguarding action may be needed to protect children and learners from:

- neglect
- physical abuse
- sexual abuse
- emotional abuse
- bullying, including online bullying and prejudice-based bullying
- racist, disability and homophobic or transphobic abuse
- gender-based violence/violence against women and girls
- radicalisation and/or extremist behaviour
- child sexual exploitation and trafficking
- the impact of new technologies on sexual behaviour, for example sexting and accessing pornography
- teenage relationship abuse
- peer on peer abuse
- substance misuse
- issues that may be specific to a local area or population, for example gang activity and youth violence
- domestic violence
- female genital mutilation
- forced marriage
- fabricated or induced illness
- poor parenting
- other issues not listed here but that pose a risk to children, young people and vulnerable adults.

Safeguarding is not just about protecting children, learners and vulnerable adults from deliberate harm, neglect and failure to act. It relates to broader aspects of care and education, including:

- children’s and learners’ health and safety and well-being, including their mental health
- meeting the needs of children who have special educational needs and/or disabilities
- the use of reasonable force
- meeting the needs of children and learners with medical conditions

- providing first aid
- educational visits
- intimate care and emotional well-being
- online safety and associated issues
- appropriate arrangements to ensure children's and learners' security, taking into account the local context.

Establishing a safeguarding culture

A safeguarding culture begins and ends with the pupils. Pupils demonstrate the effectiveness of any procedures through their behaviour across the school day. It is essential therefore that there are regular, planned opportunities within the curriculum for each of the aspects described above to be explored with pupils, at an age appropriate level. This should not interrupt, but rather complement and be embedded within other areas of the curriculum.

Parents must be genuine partners in ensuring that agreed procedures are implemented. Some procedures may be 'inconvenient' for some parents. However, pupils' safety cannot be compromised and it is useful therefore to involve parents regularly in formulating and agreeing any improvements to procedures, for example through a parent forum.

Staff are the most important factor in implementing procedures around safeguarding. It is essential therefore that regular training and high quality, transparent information supports them in carrying out these important duties effectively and consistently. Some schools make effective use of daily staff briefings to inform or remind staff of any particular aspects of safeguarding that may need more attention during that day or week. It is important that schools maintain records detailing how and when staff receive information or training.

Ultimately the Headteacher, in partnership with the governing body, is accountable for the effectiveness of safeguarding procedures. Where practice is most effective, safeguarding is a standing agenda item at senior leadership team and governing body meetings.

Carrying out a safeguarding audit

It is a requirement of the North Yorkshire Safeguarding Children Board (NYSCB) that all schools undertake this audit in order to review the robustness of existing safeguarding procedures. This should be carried out by a senior leader and a governor as a minimum requirement. However, where schools have involved a range of stakeholders, including pupils and parents, in auditing safeguarding, this has often led to significant improvement of arrangements, and a greater understanding and ownership of those procedures by stakeholders.

The audit is not a desktop exercise. It is essential that procedures are 'tested out', by observing pupils at key points in the school day, within and outside of lessons. Pupils will provide very clear information about how safe they feel and how well the school ensures their safety, so an audit should take every opportunity to seek their views about the different aspects of safeguarding.

It is not essential for schools to record extensive evidence to demonstrate where procedures are robust and effective; key points will suffice. However, it is essential that any deficiencies that may be identified are reported back to the governing body. Remedial action should be undertaken with urgency and rigour, and the impact of the changes discussed and recorded by the governing body. This will provide a vital evidence trail in inspection.

Regular and continuous monitoring of safeguarding procedures

It is the very nature of a school that it has an ever changing population. Cohorts of children move on, staff come and go. It is essential therefore that safeguarding procedures are regularly revisited in a systematic way, within the curriculum for pupils and through staff and governor training and induction.

It is also essential that different aspects of safeguarding are subject to regular monitoring checks by senior leaders, the governing body, pupils and parents. Some of these could usefully be 'unannounced', for example to check the veracity of information entered into the single central record, or to check that doors and gates that should be locked during the school day are indeed locked. This is not to catch people out, or to create an unwarranted sense of hysteria around safeguarding, but simply to ensure that critical safeguards are fully embedded into the school's practice and culture and to identify any gaps

Pupils' safety and wellbeing is central to the vision and aims of any school. It is through regular monitoring that effective schools communicate to all that their vision and aims matter. Schools can accept no less in relation to safeguarding.

Annual Safeguarding Report for the Governing Body

It is recommended that an annual safeguarding report is provided for the governing body on the school's safeguarding practice that enables the governing body to monitor compliance with the Education Act 2002 Section 175, and to identify areas for improvement. An annual report template can be found at <http://cyps.northyorks.gov.uk/index.aspx?articleid=13496>

Submission of Safeguarding Audit Tool

All schools are required to complete their audit response which must be returned to the NYSCB, Please note that this includes all maintained schools as well as academies, free and independent schools. It is strongly advised that schools, following the audit, identify any necessary actions in consultation with staff and governors. This should then be progressed through the schools governance arrangements and accepted by its Board of Governors, Management Committee or Proprietors. All schools should also note that this audit includes requirements for schools whose governing bodies are also responsible for Early Years Provisions. If this is not applicable to your school then this section can be left blank.

All schools (this includes all maintained schools as well as all academies, free and independent schools) must submit their completed audit tool to LSCB@northyorks.gov.uk by Friday 31 March 2017. Please note that completed responses should also be approved by the school's Board of Governors, Management Committee or Proprietors prior to submission. This audit is being undertaken in accordance with the statutory functions of the NYSCB and all schools are under a duty to comply with the audit. Failure to comply with this audit would result in a breach of Section 14B of the Children Act 2004 "Supply of information requested by LSCBs".

If schools are in federations or multi-academy trusts, a separate response should be submitted for each school located in North Yorkshire which have a unique reference number.

Action Plans Created as a Result of the Audit

Action plans should not be submitted with the completed audit tool. These plans should be managed in accordance with the schools governance procedures and remain the responsibility of the school's Board of Governors, Management Committee or Proprietors to complete.

Suggested Safeguarding Curriculum Resources

Schools can access the North Yorkshire PSHE and Citizenship Planning and Assessment toolkit which contains the PSHE and Citizenship curriculum entitlement framework for key stages 1-4. This incorporates suggested resources specifically to support the safeguarding aspects of the curriculum by year group. It is accessible from the PSHE room on Fronter <https://fronter.com/northyorks/> (a school log in is required)

Or link to the document if it has been uploaded to the www.safeguardingchildren.co.uk website

Appendix B – Grading Classification

Unless a specific category of question is not applicable, all schools are expected to strive to achieve 5 (safeguarding concerns have been addressed). When identifying a score it is important for each school to consider whether the minimum standards for addressing safeguarding needs have been achieved. For example, where a school has sufficient safeguards in place to address safeguarding concerns, but action plans are in place to improve or modernise those arrangements, then the school is maintaining compliance and should record their achieved level of compliance as “5”. If any planned changes will result in safeguarding concerns, schools should record their level of compliance as level “2”, “3” “4” or “5” as appropriate.

1	2	3	4	5
Not applicable	Not in operation – potential safeguarding concerns	Identified Safeguarding Concerns/Weakness to be Addressed with no Agreed Action Plan	Identified Safeguarding Concerns/Weakness with an Agreed Action Plan in Place	Safeguarding Concerns Have Been Addressed
This line of enquiry is not applicable to the school. There are no safeguarding concerns.	Not in operation. No action plan has been identified to address this at present.	Safeguarding concerns/identified weakness have been identified and the school aims to develop an action plan at senior level to address these concerns.	Safeguarding concerns/identified weaknesses have been identified and the school has an action plan agreed by senior management to address these concerns.	Safeguarding has been addressed and the school is compliant with statutory requirements. Improvements and modernisation of arrangements may be taking place but these do not expose any safeguarding concerns. There are no safeguarding concerns

For each category of question, schools are requested to identify evidence which will support their answers above. Please note that this does not include providing copies of evidence, but should make reference to what evidence is available. For example, the name of a policy which supports a specific category and the date it was last reviewed.