

Autism

Developing Communication in the Early Years.

What is Autism?

Why is he behaving differently than his peers?

What more can I do to develop his language?

Can I create Opportunities for him to communicate?

Should I be working on his play?

How can I help him engage with people?

This e-learning course is suitable for SENCOs, teachers or teaching assistants and nursery practitioners that work with children with autism and/or social communication and interaction difficulties in early years. The course gives a brief overview of what autism is, and advice/strategies to consider when working with children with limited or no spoken language. The course aims to raise awareness of the key areas teaching staff should be targeting to support the child access learning.

This course is offered as part of the child's speech and language therapy provision.

Cost: free to practitioners supporting children known to speech and language therapy services.

Date – 25th November 1:15 – 3:15pm

For more information to book a place, please contact Gill Clarke on childrenstherapytraining@york.nhs.uk and we will email an application form.

Please note this is an interactive session so you will need access to a camera and microphone to participate.