National Hate Crime Awareness Week 2025

Free Training opportunities during Hate Crime Awareness Week

As part of Hate Crime Awareness Week 2025 we are pleased to be offering the following training opportunities.

Hate Crime Awareness and Hate Crime Champions training session 14th October.

We are pleased to be offering a Hate Crime Awareness and Hate Crime Champions accredited training session to practitioners who want to learn more about hate crime, its impact victims and our wider community and how we can support those who are experiencing hate crime daily. This session is face to face and will take place at Harrogate Civic Centre, St Luke's Mount, Harrogate.

Online webinars on Thursday 16th October for practitioners to attend:

Misogyny, sexism and violence against women and girls (09:30 – 10:30)

- Underpinning violence against women and girls is a spectrum of behaviours and attitudes that permeate through our society - sexism and misogyny. This workshop will look at the systems and structures that enable these to prevail and the everyday actions that embolden perpetrators of gender-based violence and abuse. The workshop will encourage discussion and aims to empower us all to think about the changes we can make to prevent violence against women and girls.

INCEL Subculture (11:00 – 12:30)

- This session will be delivered by Sergeant Ben Hallewell, Counter Terrorism Policing North East and will focus on Incel sub-culture, its deep-rooted misogynistic beliefs as well as other extreme cultural views and it's links to terrorist acts and behaviours.

Antisemitism and Extremism in 2025 (13:00 – 14:00)

- This session will be delivered by Northern Regional Senior Manager at Community Security Trust (CST) and has been on the staff team for 15 years, having been a volunteer for 28 years. Community Security Trust is a charity that protects British Jews from antisemitism and related threats.
