

Communication and Interaction Team Newsletter no: 2 Late Autumn Term 2017

The Communication and Interaction Team are part of NYCC’s Inclusive Education Service, offering support to educational settings for children and young people with Communication and Interaction difficulties. We are a team of Consultants, Specialist Teachers and Specialist Practitioners , comprising of a central team and professionals within Enhanced Mainstream Schools. We have a wide range of backgrounds, specialisms and experience including, Speech and Language therapy, Early Years, Autism and Psychology across the 0-25 age range.

We provide a range of educational interventions and support for children and young people with speech, language, communication and interaction needs. This includes children and young people with Autism, Developmental Language Disorder, Selective Mutism, dysfluency and communication aid users. We also offer support and advice around a range of Social, Emotional and Mental Health needs and difficulties. Children and young people do not require any formal diagnosis to receive support from our team, we are a needs based service.

Referrals should be made using a Request for Involvement form see:
